News Limited journalist Jim Wilson, who has three properties under management with Interface, had this to say about Cath Stubbings:

“She cares, she’s thorough and she’s a good communicator.”

“Cath is extremely dedicated and willing to be hands on. She’s fair to both landlords and tenants and if there is a problem, she fixes it.

“I’ve dealt with big real estate agents and you just don’t get the level of service you should. They just take their commission and run.

“I’d recommend her to anyone.”

Vasa Carapic has an executive property under management with Interface, which is currently leased for $1250 a week:

“I had five agents look at the property. Her valuation was on target. It was advertised on the Thursday and there was a tenant on the Monday.

“What she said she’d do, she delivered on.

“Cath keeps me well informed about the property ... so much so that I don’t have to think about it.

“There are no hassles, no worries and everything is done on time, every time.”

Property developer and chairman of Hosanda Pty Ltd, Gil Hoskins has in excess of 30 properties – mainly apartments – under management with Interface:

“It’s great to deal directly with the decision maker of the business.

“Personalised service is what people want because it’s a very personal business to be in. Landlords want someone who cares about their property as much as they do.

“She always makes herself available to discuss any concerns I might have even though these are few and far between.

“The money is always deposited on time, the accounts are in order and appropriate paperwork completed.

“She’s so efficient that it really is a matter of set and forget.”
